WASHINGTON, July 17.—Senator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, charged today in the Senate, and Senator Smoot of Utah, ranking Republican on the Finance Committee, conceded that the section of the tariff bill imposing an additional duty of 12 per cent ad valorem on fancy cotton cloths was "word for word" as proposed by former Senator Henry P. Lippitt, a cotton goods manufacturer of Providence, R. I.

WOMAN HELD FOR PROOF OF SUPPORT IS WORTH $73,000

Ellis Island Authorities Detain Her, Not Knowing Her Financial Circumstances.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 17.—Concealed in her garments, Mrs. Margaret Morris, an English woman, had $3000 in cash and about $70,000 worth of titles to real estate, but waited nearly a week at Ellis Island for affidavits of support from her daughter in San Francisco. She was released Saturday.

Mrs. Morris said "an English detective" aboard the ship had cautioned her against divulging to the American immigration authorities just how much wealth she possessed. So she kept silent about her fortune and was required to go from the ship to Ellis Island to satisfy officials that she would never become a public charge in the United States. She did not pull out her bankroll or give an inventory of the realty left by her first husband, a German, in Hamburg.

"I want to spend the rest of my life with my daughter, Sappho, now the wife of Edward Lowelwyn, a member of Princess Patricia's regiment during the war. Their childhood romance was revived during the war, they got married and are now living in San Francisco," she said.

Residents Forced to Second and Third Floors Before 20,000,000 Gallons of Water.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Mass., July 17.—Twenty-million gallons of water flooded a large part of the William-sett district here early today when Langwalsdam dam and another dam at Robert Pond, gave way. Residences and business places along Chicopee street were flooded above the first floor and occupants were forced to flee to the second and third floors for safety. No lives were lost. It is believed property damage will be heavy.

The Boston and Maine tracks were washed out in half a dozen places.

WOMAN LAUGHS WHEN IDENTIFIED AS A SLAYER

Mrs. Clara Phillips, Accused of Killing Widow With Hammer, Is Examined by an Alienist.

SMILES JAUNTILY AT CAMERA EYES

Former Chum Officially Identifies Woman Whom She Says Charged Victim With Stealing Husband.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 17.—A laugh and a shrug were all officers got from their carefully staged meeting between Mrs. Clara Phillips, under indictment for the murder of Mrs. Albert A. Meadows, and her former chum, Peggy Caffee, who accused her. Mrs. Phillips is said to have accused the pretty widow of intimacy with Phillips.

Mrs. Caffee, who says she saw Mrs. Phillips beat the other woman to death with a hammer, on Montecito drive, was taken on board the train which was bringing the accused woman back to Los Angeles from Tucson, Ariz., and while Mrs. Phillips smiled, her accuser identified her as the murderer.

At the station Mrs. Phillips again laughed as photographers attempted to snap her while she walked to an automobile. She was taken at once to the Sheriff's office, where an alienist examined her.

"Is this the woman who killed Mrs. Meadows?" Mrs. Phillips asked. "Yes," quavered the young woman. Mrs. Phillips smiled, but said nothing.

As she stepped off the train, a group of news photographers confronted her. The camera shutters clicked, and her teeth flashed in a succession of smiles. Then deputies hurried her toward a waiting automobile.

As she started to step into a car a photographer asked her to pose. She consented with alacrity, mounting the running board, head and shoulders above the crowd of spectators that thronged the street. Again she smiled, an accompaniment of clicking shutters.

Sticks Out Tongue at Camera.
A. L. Phillips, husband of the alleged slayer, who told the Sheriff of her flight from the city, was not at the station to meet his wife, the authorities desiring to keep the two apart until they had questioned Mrs. Phillips in greater detail.

After a half-hour conference, Dr. Louis Weber, alienist, did not state his opinion as to Mrs. Phillips' mental condition, but said she had not evaded conversation. He added, however, that she had declined to answer certain questions. What these were he would not say.

After her questioning was completed, she was taken to the Coroner's jury. There officers were required to force a lane through the crowd that had gathered.

Just outside the jail door she again posed for photographers, but instead of smiling, stuck out her tongue.

SPECTATOR KILLS UMPIRE OF COUNTY BASEBALL GAME

Charles Bouzek, a Farmer and Deputy Sheriff, Dies After Being Struck on Head at Fenton—Youth in Jail.

Putting into action the thought which is often recklessly expressed at baseball games, a spectator at a game in Fenton, St. Louis County, yesterday afternoon killed the umpire.

The umpire, Charles Bouzek, 33 years old, a farmer living near Fenton and a Deputy Sheriff of Jefferson County, was struck on the head with a bat, wielded by the dissatisfied spectator, and fell unconscious. He was taken to Lutheran Hospital, St. Louis, and died there this morning.

Charles Woolsey, 18, of Valley Park, is held in the Clayton Jail, charged with the fatal assault. The prosecuting attorney's office said he would be formally charged with first-degree murder.

Uproar Over Decision.
The game was between the Fenton and Valley Park teams, and in the fifth inning, the score was 5 to 0 in Fenton's favor. Valley Park was at bat and Bouzek, who was umpiring the bases, was standing near first.

A Valley Park base runner took a long lead off first base, and when the ball was thrown to first and the Valley Park men tried to regain the base, Bouzek declared him out.

The Valley Park players and some spectators who favored the visiting team, raised an uproar. Some of the players went toward the umpire, to expostulate with him. The players afterward said that they made the protest in a good-natured way. Some of the Fenton players said, "let them have it," and Bouzek reversed his decision, and called the man safe.

As the noise was subsiding, a youth, said by spectators to have been Woolsey, arose from the place where he had been sitting, beyond center field, and walked toward the umpire, at first base. A bat thrown by one of the players lay in his path, and the youth picked it up, and held it behind him as he walked toward Bouzek.

Someone in the crowd called to him, "Go to it." An instant later the youth struck Bouzek over the right ear with the bat. Bouzek fell, and his assailant dropped the bat and ran. Spectators and players of both teams started a pursuit.

Deputy Sheriff Slevin of St. Louis County, who was at the rear of the pursuing line, came up after a crowd had surrounded Woolsey, and he arrested Woolsey and took him to Clayton.

A physician who examined Bouzek found that he had a probable skull fracture, and ordered him removed to a hospital. The game was resumed and ended in an 11-0 victory for Fenton.

Prisoner Refuses to Talk.
Slevin said that Woolsey, on the way to Clayton, remarked, "I didn't mean to hit him so hard." When reporters saw Woolsey today he refused to say anything.

Spectators said there had been no complaint of Bouzek's umpiring up to the time of the incident at first base.

Bouzek was well known both in Jefferson County and in St. Louis County. His friends say he intended to run for Sheriff of Jefferson County.

Woolsey will be arraigned before Justice Stecker in Clayton Friday morning for his preliminary hearing.

1 KILLED, 2 HURT WHEN BEE STINGS THE DRIVER

Man Loses Control of Auto; Wife Killed; He and Newspaper Woman Are Injured.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, July 16.—As William T. Shannon, manager of sales of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Co., was driving an automobile along a country road near this city yesterday, accompanied by his wife and Miss George Ellison, society editor of a Cincinnati newspaper, a "vagrant bee, buzzing about in the car, alighted on Shannon's right hand, grasped the wheel and stung him.

Distracted by the sudden pain, Shannon jerked away his hand. With his control removed, the automobile swerved to the side of the road, plunged over an eight-foot embankment and was overturned, the occupants being pinned beneath the wreckage. Shannon ran back on the road, shouting for help. With aid of passing drivers the heavy car was lifted and the two women removed.

It was found that Mrs. Shannon was dead, apparently having been killed instantly by her head and chest being crushed in. Miss Ellison, suffering from internal injuries, collapsed on learning of the death of her friend. Shannon, himself suffering severe injuries, lost consciousness soon after.

Both he and Miss Ellison were taken in a private automobile to the Good Samaritan Hospital. At the hospital both Shannon and Miss Ellison were speedily revived. Mrs. Shannon was 55 years old, her husband, 60.

Miss Ellison is the wife of Gustave Coleman, a St. Louis artist.

CHICAGO FEDERAL AGENTS TO TESTIFY ABOUT RUM PLOT

Three Weeks to Be Required for Giving Evidence of $500,000 Deals.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 17.—Federal authorities are ready today to go before a special grand jury to unfold what they say will be the greatest "rum plot" revealed since prohibition. It is said presentation of evidence will require approximately three weeks, and will expose graft operations involving sums totaling $500,000.

The investigation was disclosed following the arrest of Harry W. Morgan, former chief clerk in the State Treasurer's office, was found guilty of misapplication of State funds and sentenced to two years' imprisonment by a jury here today.

GOLTRA TAKES OVER U. S. BARGE FLEET

Announcement Made That St. Louisian Has Fulfilled Necessary Conditions.

The United States Engineers' office here announced today that Edward F. Goltra complied Saturday with the Government's requirements for taking over a fleet of 19 barges and four towboats, to be operated by Goltra under his contract with the War Department.

Maj. Lunsford Oliver, in charge of the engineers' office, said Goltra had furnished a bond of $200,000, and had made the necessary provisions for insurance. He said Goltra requested Saturday that announcement of the transaction be withheld until today, and that he complied with this request.

Saturday was the last day allowed Goltra for fulfilling the conditions. A formal tender of the vessels to Goltra was made about two weeks ago in a letter from the War Department. This formal notice stated that, unless Goltra took over the barges by July 15, the lease would be terminated, and the barges would be turned over to the Government waterways service.

The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce recently complained that the barges, which were here being kept idle when transportation facilities were needed, and asked that the disposition of them be determined.

LENINE'S HAND REPORTED AGAIN ON WHEEL OF RUSSIAN AFFAIRS

Premier's Physicians Are Permitting Him to Confer With Political Friends; Condition Improving.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, July 17.—Premier Lenine is beginning to resume leadership of affairs in Russia, Dr. N. Semashko, Commissioner for Public Health, has announced.

Dr. Semashko said, "are permitting him to confer with political friends. He has seen several of them in the past week regarding Government affairs. His health is rapidly improving."

The commissar denied emphatically rumors that Premier Lenine had suffered a second stroke.

SPLIT IN BAPTIST CONGREGATION AT MEDORA, ILL.

52 Persons in Helping Hand Society Remain Away From Services, Although Still Considered Members.

SPARRING MATCH FACTOR IN DIVISION

70-Year-Old Woman, Church Member for 57 Years, Leads Holdout Forces—Dancer Expelled.

There were services as usual yesterday at the Baptist Church at Medora, Macoupin County, Ill., 50 miles from St. Louis, but there were no Helping Handers in the pews. That was because the congregation, at a business meeting Thursday night, withdrew the hand of fellowship from the Helping Hand Society.

Fifty-two of the 60-odd Helping Handers were prior to that time members of the church. The pastor, The Rev. G. C. Cross, says they are still members of the church, but they consider themselves excluded, along with their society, and are departing themselves, with such fortitude as they can summon, as martyrs who have worthily fallen in a good cause.

Because of the church disagreement which has for a long time provided Medora with most of its excitement, the Helping Handers have not been going to church much of late, anyway, and their absence yesterday did not deplete the services. The pastor preached about healing broken hearts to a congregation of about 50, a fair attendance for a small town church in midsummer.

The Helping Handers' Leader, "The Helping Handers, when they made their last stand Thursday night, were led by Mrs. Emma Denney, 70 years old, 57 years a member of the church, president of the Helping Handers and, in the secular world, policeman of Medora, sturdy and valiant battler for the right as she sees the right. Because of the militancy of the occasion she went in the dual capacity of leader of the Helping Handers and limb of the law, wearing her star and carrying her club.

It is not difficult to find persons in Medora who say that "Aunt Emma" or "old Em," depending upon whether a friend or an enemy is speaking, faced her foes with flourishing club, but that appears to be one of the exaggerations that grow in the heated atmosphere of controversy.

The preacher says he saw Mrs. Denney's star shining bright and clear, but no club. Mrs. Denney's version is that she wore her star under a fold of her dress and her club in her handbag, and that when she tried to make a speech and Deacon Pritchett yelled at her to sit down or he'd put her out, she flashed her star and reached for her club, and invited him to come on. But the deacon didn't come on.

History of Disagreement.
The Medora disagreement is rich in ramifications which it is difficult for a disinterested sojourner to follow. It began before Mr. Cross went there a year and a half ago from East St. Louis and took charge of the congregation. The prior trouble, it seems, had grown out of a sparring match which a leading member of the church had sponsored, and which the pastors of the vicinity had opposed to the point of invoking the law. The new preacher received anonymous letters and about the first thing he heard was that A. J. C. Cross was a "harmful" and prominent Baptist, who had not joined in the agitation against the sparring match, had said that he was going to run Mr. Cross out of town. Mr. Cross saw him about it and he denied it but he was not cordial and has not attended church.

Friction with the Helping Handers started early. The Helping Handers had seen many preachers come and go and felt themselves capable of running themselves and resented anything that looked like ministerial authority. It chanced, after a while, that the Helping Handers and the Loyal Workers, pulling independently, announced church suppers for the same night. The Helping Handers had theirs. The Loyal Workers changed their plans. After that the

6 OF MEN ATTACKING NONUNION SHAFT IN WEST VIRGINIA KILLED

Sheriff and 20 Aids Said to Have Scattered Large Force That Came From Pennsylvania.

TIPPLE IS DYNAMITED; STATE POLICE ON GROUND

Fighting Occurs Near State Line in the Wheeling Neighborhood—Attackers, Well Armed, Reported to Have Fled When Sheriff Advanced Up Hillside—13 Captured.

By the Associated Press.

WELLSBURG, W. VA., July 17.—Sheriff H. H. Duval and six other men are known to have been killed and a large number wounded in a fight at the Cliftonville mine of the Richland Coal Co., ten miles from Wellsburg, near the Pennsylvania state line, today. The dead were brought to Wellsburg and the wounded taken to Wheeling hospitals.

The mine, which has been working on an open shop basis is reported to have been attacked by a large party of men from over the Pennsylvania line. After the fight they burned the tipple.

The bodies of six unidentified members of the attacking party were brought to Wellsburg. Four wounded are in hospitals and 15 prisoners are confined in the Wellsburg Jail. Brook County deputies at Cliftonville are searching the wooded hillsides near the mine for other bodies, it having been reported that a dozen or more had been killed.

Fire at the mine was extinguished after the tipple and part of the tracks at the mouth of the mine had been destroyed.

Description of Fighting.
T. H. Duval, who was with his father at the mine, accompanied the latter's body to their home here. "There had been rumors for some time that the mine was to be attacked. It had been operating on a nonunion basis, and last night we heard the attack was to be made soon," Duval said. "The Sheriff had a detail of men at the mine, but he gathered up a number of others here in Wellsburg and we went out to the mine last night. The report was that a big crowd of men were on their way from over the State line in Pennsylvania, and after we reached the mine the Sheriff placed guards around the property."

"Nothing happened until about daybreak, when firing began from the top of the hill above the mine opening. We replied to the fire and the Sheriff ordered the men to move up the hill. They responded, firing as they went. The Sheriff reached the top before he was killed. I saw him a few minutes before and he was hurrying after a small party of the mob. I suppose he was killed shortly after that, because I found his body there when I came up."

"The mob seemed to be armed with all kinds of guns and had abundant ammunition, because they kept shooting, even after we had broken their line and they were running over the hill."

"Some of them evidently got in behind, because they exploded a charge of dynamite under the tipple and it was blown up. I think it caught fire and was burned to the ground, although I don't know. None of us paid much attention to it. We were busy trying to break up that mob."

"I don't know how many of the men who attacked us were killed. There were at least eight, for I am sure I saw that many bodies. There may be others out in the woods through which they ran when we went up the hill. I know a lot of them were wounded."

"There must have been 300 or 400 in the mob, while Sheriff Duval had not more than about 20 men."

COAL OPERATORS TODAY TO PASS ON PRESIDENT'S OFFER

One Group Announces, Before Meeting, It Favors Accepting Arbitration Proposal Unconditionally.

SOME OPPOSED TO FORMAL RESPONSE

These Employers Hold It Is Not Necessary in View of Miners' Refusal to Arbitrate.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Birmingham coal operators representing associations of employers in all the principal producing districts of the country are here for a final meeting today to formulate their response to President Harding's offer of arbitration to settle the existing strike. Among the various positions favored by the operators one influential group advocated before going into today's meeting that they accept the arbitration offer unconditionally.

Despite what they viewed as difficulties raised by the offer, it would put the operators in a favorable light and attest a sympathetic attitude toward the Government's attempts to effect a settlement, it was said. Employers of the Pittsburgh district contended acceptance of a national arbitration was impossible for them, though district arbitration would be acceptable. Again it was suggested that in view of the miners' refusal to arbitrate, the employers considered no formal response now is required from them and they simply announce their desire to co-operate with the Government in any future endeavor.

Meanwhile the members of the General Policy Committee of the Miners' Union, for whom a meeting was called today, apparently were being held here by the national officers of the union to be available to consider any further proposals the President might have to make.

STAY OF KOERNER'S SENTENCE INCREASED TO SIX MONTHS

Execution of Three-Month Jail Term Postponed on Ground of Illness.

A 90-day extension of the 90-day stay of mandate postponing the execution of a three-month sentence to the St. Charles jail imposed on Ernst A. Koerner, 65 years old, for years president of the Merchants Catering Co., 408 Washington avenue, has been ordered by United States Circuit Judge Sanborn of St. Paul. Koerner was fined $1000 and sentenced to jail by Federal Judge Farris June 5, 1921, for a second violation of the Volstead prohibition law.

The stay of mandate, granted on the contention that Koerner was too ill to go to jail, expired June 28 last. In opposing Koerner's plea for an extension, Special Assistant Attorney-General Dwyer wrote Judge Sanborn, citing convictions of Koerner before and after the case in question and urging that any further clemency be left to the President.

CAPITAL HOPES FOR EARLY SETTLEMENT OF STRIKES

Different Sides Striving for Best Possible Bargain, Knowing That U. S. Will Act Unless Peace Is Made Soon.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—An "special" program designed to bring an end to the coal and rail strikes is understood to have been discussed today at the White House conference between President Harding and Gov. Spruell, Senator Pepper and Attorney-General Alter of Pennsylvania. No announcement, however, was forthcoming as to the nature of the proposals said to be under consideration by the President.

By DAVID LAWRENCE, A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Sparling for position and trying to get the best bargain they can, the various parties to the railroad and coal strikes are convinced that they must make peace soon or run counter to drastic action by the Federal Government.

The general opinion here is that the coal strike will be settled along with the railroad strike before many days have elapsed. No such impression of hopeless deadlock is usually forecasted as long strike can be obtained by talking with any of the principals or their spokesmen. The nearness of an agreement in the rail strike is such that the President has hesitated to use Federal troops lest the situation may be aggravated and peace prevented. The coal miners are aching to modify their refusal of arbitration and the Government has been trying ever since Saturday to prevail upon the coal operators to take action which will make arbitration possible.

Division of Operators.

The single obstacle in the coal controversy has been the division among the operators. The miners, before accepting arbitration, want to be convinced that the decision will apply to all coal operators, or at least a substantial majority such as will fix a scale for the industry. Because assurances to this effect have been lacking, the miners hesitate. They are eager to have the arbitration cover nonunion as well as union mines so that when the award is made they had eaten lunch at the benefits of the union and join it, thus making a material increase in the

70 STRIKE BREAKERS AND 7 CHICAGO POLICEMEN POISONED

Stricken From Food Served Them in Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Dining Cars.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 17.—Seventy new shop employees of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad and seven city policemen are suffering today from poisoning as a result of eating food served to railway strike breakers. These men were stricken during the last three days, 10 of them yesterday.

A score of Health Department workers were assigned to inspect rigidly all food served to workers in Chicago yards to prevent recurrence of the trouble. The policemen stated that they had eaten lunch in dining cars provided by the railroad.

C. S. Christopher, superintendent of terminals of the railway company, issued the following statement: "Our men are fed in dining cars in charge of regular crews which have been taken off our train staffs and the food is the best obtainable. It is the same as served on our dining cars. Men who have been employed in the commissary department for long service departments for as long as 20 years have charge of the cars here and every one of them is a trusted employee."

"We cannot imagine how the food could have been adulterated."

FUSILLADE FOLLOWS 5 ROBBERIES

Bullet Hits Boy Who Is on Steps at Home After $65 Robbery.

Adam Dieterich, saloonkeeper at 410 Lexington avenue, fired five revolver shots after five robbers in automobile, escaping after taking $65 from the cash register at 4:30 p. m. yesterday. Neighbors also fired several shots at the robbers, who returned two shots and escaped.

One bullet, nearly spent, struck Edwin Bryan, 15 years old, who was on the front steps of his home, 4170 Ashland avenue, and made a slight laceration of his abdomen. Two of the robbers, wearing handkerchiefs as masks, had entered the saloon. They had revolvers.

IMPRISONMENT FOR INJUNCTION VIOLATORS

Federal Judge Triebler States He Will Enforce Order Against Strikers.

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, July 17.—Judge Triebler today announced that he would enforce his order against strikers who violate Federal Court orders or injunctions against interference with trains. Judge Triebler said that he would not make any distinction between those who violate Federal Court orders or injunctions against interference with trains. Judge Triebler said that he would not make any distinction between those who violate Federal Court orders or injunctions against interference with trains.

"I will not make any distinction between those who violate Federal Court orders or injunctions against interference with trains. Judge Triebler said that he would not make any distinction between those who violate Federal Court orders or injunctions against interference with trains. Judge Triebler said that he would not make any distinction between those who violate Federal Court orders or injunctions against interference with trains."

The order issued by Judge Triebler at Little Rock last week against Missouri Pacific strikers, restraining them from interfering with employees of the railroad or interfering with the operation of trains, was continued indefinitely by a stipulation filed before Judge Triebler in court here.

The order was made returnable today, and when it was called William L. Igoe, attorney for the strikers, said the respondents were not ready to file an answer and an agreement had been reached with counsel of the railroad company to enter a stipulation continuing the case until Judge Triebler is again here or another stipulation is filed.

The stipulation waived the right to attach the jurisdiction of Judge Triebler, which had been questioned because the order, affecting Missouri, had been issued in Arkansas.

Judge Triebler said that, after leaving here Wednesday, he was going on a vacation and would not return for two months. He was asked if Judge Cotteral of Oklahoma had not been assigned to sit in court here. He said Judge Cotteral would not be here because he had gone to a sanitarium for an operation. However, Judge Wade of Nebraska and Judge Pollock of Kansas may be available if a hearing is desired before Judge Triebler or Judge Cotteral can sit in the case.

Judge Triebler has two other hearings, one this afternoon on a restraining order obtained by the Burlington, and one tomorrow on a restraining order obtained by the Wash.

Burlington Obtains Injunction Against Picketing.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Co. obtained a restraining order today, in the East St. Louis Federal Court, directed against members of the striking shop crafts, and applying particularly to those in Centralia, Ill., where the company has its shops. The order, which enjoins picketing and other interference with the company's property and its employees, is similar to those issued in behalf of other roads. The petition for a temporary injunction will be heard July 25.

A telegram was received from Attorney-General Dwyer by District Attorney Carroll today, advising him that any interference with the repairing of rolling stock used in interstate commerce is an interference with interstate commerce.

15 TERMINAL POWER PLANT EMPLOYEES QUIT

Members of First Shift Comply With Strike Order—Others Expected to Go Out.

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, July 17.—Fifteen members of the first shift of the Stationary Engineers' Firemen and Oilers' organization employed at the power plant of the Terminal Railway Association at Union Station walked out at 8 a. m. today, in compliance with strike orders from national headquarters. The two engineers of the shift were among those who did not obey the strike call.

Terminal officials expect others of the men to fail to report for duty when their shifts go on, but believe some from each shift will remain on the job. Fifty "white collar" men, including several officials, were issued overalls this morning, and 15 went to work at once to replace the men on strike.

President Henry Miller of the Terminal said the stationary engineers' local here had no grievance against the company and had voted not to go out when the strike call was taken some time ago. Their representatives conferred for several hours with Terminal officials yesterday before deciding to obey the recent national call.

The power plant operates the lighting system at the station, the air compressors for the trains, and 26 mail, express and baggage elevators. It is in charge of Edward Kolbe, for 32 years in the service of the Terminal.

Merchants Bridge Open to Traffic Again After Freight Wreck.

Rail traffic over Merchants Bridge, halted when four cars of a 25-car freight train were derailed near the Illinois side by a brake-falling to the track at 10 p. m. Saturday, was resumed at noon today. Trains usually using the bridge had been detoured over Eads Bridge since the accident.

An emergency force of foremen and "white collar" men worked through Saturday night to clear the wreckage, as the shop men ordinarily doing this work are on strike.

ARMY RESERVE OFFICERS OPEN ENCAMPMENT AT BARRACKS

140 Quartered in Tents on Parade Grounds; Will Study Battle Tactics for Two Weeks.

The 15-day annual encampment for army reserve officers of this region opened today at Jefferson Barracks, with about 140 reservists, ranging in rank from Lieutenant-Colonel to Second Lieutenant, in attendance. A number of them are St. Louisans. They are quartered in tents on the parade grounds, under command of Col. John N. Street.

Col. E. M. Osley and a staff of four Majors form the instruction personnel, which will conduct "terrain exercises," or lessons in practical battle maneuvers, tactics and strategy. The Sixth Infantry, stationed at the barracks, will give demonstrations. The reserve officers also will receive instruction in horsemanship and the physical training of troops.

Grable indicated last night that in any event, no nation-wide strike action by his organization could be expected before Thursday, the date he has set for a meeting here of the brotherhood's grand lodge, which includes the general chairman of all divisions and members of the Executive Council.

Grable stopped over here last night en route to Chicago from Washington, where Saturday he conferred with President Harding on the strike situation. He plans to meet the Railroad Labor Board in Chicago today of tomorrow to enlist the aid of that body in stopping the reported practice of the railroads of shunting the duties of strikers to maintain shop workers' strike.

When the shop workers' strike began, Grable said, the railroads assigned some of the strikers' duties to employees belonging to the maintenance union. The men protested and the matter was taken up with the roads.

Most of them agreed to desist but within the last few days reports have reached him, Grable continued, that some roads again were insisting that shop duties be performed

Kidnaped Guards Missing.

Six of 13 special agents and guards of the Atlantic Coast Line, kidnaped by a mob of alleged strikers and sympathizers, are still missing and the Governor has been requested to send troops to Rocky Mount, N. C., the scene of the kidnaping.

An attempt to dynamite the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad bridge at Pikesville, near Fairmont, W. Va., slightly damaged the tracks.

One train wreck and two alleged attempts to wreck other passenger trains were recorded on New England lines over the week end.

Reports have been received in Washington by the War Department and the Postmaster-General of the situation at Denison, Tex. There has been some delay in the delivery of mails, but no actual interruption.

13 GUARDS KIDNAPED IN NORTH CAROLINA

By the Associated Press.

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., July 17.—Six of the 13 special agents and guards of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad who were kidnaped early yesterday by a mob of alleged strikers and sympathizers are still missing. Four of the men were located yesterday at Elm City and three at Wilson, several of the rescued having been so roughly handled by their captors as to require medical attention.

All available deputy sheriffs in Edgecombe County were called to duty following an attack upon a squad of railroad guards.

A number of the guards were kidnaped, taken into the woods and severely beaten. Two of them were reported to have been seriously injured.

Roads Reported Forcing Maintenance Men to Do Shop Duty.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, July 17.—Members of the maintenance of way union who engage in an unauthorized strike will not be expelled from the union "for the moment," but brotherhood organizers will be sent to interview the strikers and attempt to persuade them to remain at work pending final decision as to a national strike.

E. F. Grable, president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers, said here this morning.

Scattered strikes of maintenance men are due to railroads requiring them to perform the duties of striking shop employees, and these tactics must cease or all the maintenance men will be called out on strike, Grable declared.

Grable indicated last night that in any event, no nation-wide strike action by his organization could be expected before Thursday, the date he has set for a meeting here of the brotherhood's grand lodge, which includes the general chairman of all divisions and members of the Executive Council.

Grable stopped over here last night en route to Chicago from Washington, where Saturday he conferred with President Harding on the strike situation. WRECK ENDS CAREER OF ALL - FATED LOGGERS

No. 230 Known for Lives Lost in Accidents in Which It Was Figured.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 17.—Louisville & Nashville passenger locomotive No. 230, known for lives lost in accidents in which it was figured, lies on a side track today, a crippled hulk of twisted steel.

Pulling the Southland, an all-passenger train from Cincinnati to Jacksonville, No. 230 yesterday wrecked a cylinder head above La Fayette, Tenn., the driving beam wrecked the engine before it could be stopped.

Mail Delayed When Clearing of Wreck Is Prevented.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Supt. Brauer of the railway mail service at Chicago notified Postmaster-General Work today that Chicago, Burlington & Quincy train No. 27 left the track yesterday at Lovilia, Monroe County, Ia., and that striking coal miners and shopmen's sympathizers had prevented the clearing of the wrecking crews to clear the tracks. Passengers, train and wrecking crews have been driven away from the train, he added, and the track has been blocked, thus delaying the movement of mail.

Supt. Brauer said he had notified the postoffice inspectors at St. Louis. Postmaster-General Work, immediately upon receipt of the telegram from Brauer, communicated the details to Attorney-General Daugherty for such action as the Department might deem justified in the south-east of Des Moines.

Strike Sympathizers Rout Nonunion Men Clearing Wreckage.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 17.—Gov. Kendall has received a report that mine strike sympathizers molested a crew of strike breakers attempting to clear the wreckage of a Burlington passenger train which left the tracks near Lovilia, Ia., yesterday morning. No one was seriously injured in the wreck.

According to a report submitted to the Governor by J. P. Cummings, superintendent of the Iowa division of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, striking coal miners gathered around the wrecking crew at dusk. As it became dark, according to the report, the miners served notice on Assistant Superintendent P. E. Haynes, who was in charge of the wreckers, that he must "get out with his scale in 15 minutes."

Threats hurled by the sympathizers and an attack on a section man who was working a distance away on the track led Haines to entrain his force and return to Albion, and finally to Ottumwa, leaving two cars still off the track blocking the Albia-Des Moines line of the Burlington.

MILK AND ICE FUND

TOTAL REACHES $1896
Amount Below That of Past Years; Three Benefits and Donation Add $20.32.

CONTRIBUTIONS.
Previously acknowledged, $1,875 71
Show, 4257 Junata street, 13.13
Lemonade stand, 7148 Waterman avenue, 3.19
Lemonade stand and play, 30 Gray avenue, Webster Groves, 3.00
"In memory of John Horace Hardin," by Mrs. J. C. Hartin, Clayton, Mo., 1.00
Total, $1,896.03

Three benefits and a direct cash contribution added $20.32 to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund on Saturday, bringing the fund for the babies to a total of $1896.03. This is short of the fund's total on the corresponding date of last summer and previous years, and friends of the babies are urged to remember the little sufferers of the tenement districts and not lag in their efforts toward obtaining the much-needed fund of $10,000.

Neighborhood children gave a show at 4257 Junata street on June 30 and earned $13.13 for the Milk and Ice Fund. Those who took part were Verna and Verna, Mildred Poeller, Hazel Akers, Lorretta Hurland, Eleanor and Beatrice Jost and Wilbur Hurland.

Waterman avenue friends of the babies conducted a refreshment sale, disposing of lemonade, candy and flowers, at 7148 Waterman avenue, and cleared $3.19 for the fund. The workers were: Frances, Edna Jean, Elizabeth and John Russell Jr., Mary Louise and Grace Bretz, Warren Smith, Robert and Orville Stewart and Warner Schoenhalder. Three dollars came from the little children of Gray and Cedar avenues, Webster Groves. They earned that amount selling lemonade and giving a play, but they did not secure the names when they forwarded the money, so it is impossible to print the list of workers.

CITY HOSPITAL PATIENT FOUND TO HAVE $3000 ON PERSON

Railroad Worker Later Taken to St. Mary's Says He Carried His Savings Always.
A money belt holding nearly $3000 in cash and Liberty bonds was found on John Carter, 40 years old, of 3135 South Broadway, a section foreman for the Manufacturers' Railroad, when he was taken to the city hospital early yesterday morning suffering a possible skull fracture and contusions.
Carter, who was later moved to St. Mary's Hospital at his own request, said he had fallen down the steps while returning from a neighbor's in the vicinity of his own home, where he had been visiting. He said he always carried his money. The belt contained $2577.32 in bills of $50, $20 and $10 and two $50 Liberty bonds.

VERDICT ON GIRL'S FATAL FALL

Plunge on Boat Landing Called an Accident.
A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the death of Helen M. Cummings, 12 years old, of 929 Bayard avenue, who was injured Thursday when she fell down a flight of stairs on a boat landing at Glenview, on the Meramec River. She fell from the landing against a boat and into the river.
She died at Missouri Baptist Sanitarium, Saturday, of a rupture of the liver. She was a daughter of Luke H. Cummings, a clerk in the Post-Dispatch advertising department. Cummings said she either slipped on the stairs or caught her foot on a cleat. The funeral will be at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow, with services at Visitation Church and burial in Calvary cemetery.

MINER FOUND DEAD NEAR TRACK

Millard Back, 30 years old, a miner of Springfield, Ill., was found dead alongside a railroad track a mile outside of Mascoutah, Ill., early this morning.
His head was crushed. It is believed he was struck by a passenger train shortly before midnight, since he was last seen at the station near the depot at Mascoutah, where he inquired as to the best way to reach Belleville, where he had been visiting William Knowles. When told that a taxi was the only way to reach Belleville he declared that he would walk. Back had gone to Mascoutah to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bagby, relatives of Knowles.

ADVERTISEMENTS

A Comfortable Baby Never Cries

Most of Baby's discomforts are due to skin troubles. Baby's skin is as sensitive as a rose petal. So think what suffering is caused by the friction of damp diapers which rub the skin all night, by prickly heat and all of the other rashes that keep Baby unhappy.
Please try Kora-Konia on Baby. It is impossible to tell in print how wonderfully this amazing powder heals and soothes. Baby's tender skin. Just try it. In just a little while the rashes go—raw spots heal. And the waterproof, velvety film of powder clings for hours, protecting the skin from friction. Don't let Baby suffer another hour—buy Kora-Konia at your drugist's. Made by Mennen—not a Talcum.

NARCOTICS WORTH
MORE THAN $15,000*Holes Broken Through Two Brick Walls to Evade Electric Alarms in Entering Building.*FIRE ESCAPE CLIMBED
TO THE THIRD FLOOR*Drugs Obtained From Parke, Davis & Co., Consisted of Morphine, Cocaine, Heroin and Caffeine.Burglars who broke holes through two brick walls, evading an electrical burglar alarm system, stole narcotics worth between $15,000 and $20,000 from a vault of Parke, Davis & Co., manufacturing chemists, 106-S South
Fourth street, some time between
Saturday night and last night.
The burglary was discovered by a policeman, who saw a rear window of the W. B. Wood Chemical Co., which adjoins the Parke, Davis & Co.
building on the north, broken open.
The police and representatives of the alarm company which has the Parke, Davis & Co. building wired, found in their investigation that the burglars had gotten to the narcotics undetected in the following manner:
They climbed the rear fire escape of the Wood Chemical Co. building, to the third floor, walked along a 65-inch ledge and smashed a window with a brick, to get in. They went to the first floor and apparently chiseled a hole through the 13-inch brick wall, 18 inches square.
Through this they entered the Parke, Davis & Co. building, where they went to the narcotic vault on the second floor.
There is a barred window in the vault, for ventilation, but this is wired with burglar alarm. The burglars chiseled another hole through the thick brick wall of the vault.
The narcotics they obtained comprised quantities of morphine, cocaine, heroin, and caffeine. They scattered about $500 worth of drugs on the floor of the vault and left behind also two "bimies," a chisel and a sledge hammer. Apparently they escaped in the washes had entered. Officials of the drug company said they would require most of the day today to make an exact inventory of the loss.Two Stores on Franklin Avenue Broken Into by Burglars.
Another wall-breaking burglary was discovered yesterday, in the dry goods store of A. Schramm, 1428W
Franklin avenue, and the millinery shop of Morris Eissen, 1428 Franklin avenue. A 2x3-foot hole was chiseled through the brick wall between the two stores. Dry goods valued at $1,000, taken from Schramm's store, but $15 was left in the cash register, while $8 was taken from Eissen's store, and $150 worth of jewelry was overlooked and the stock left intact.The burglars entered through a rear door of the dry goods store and broke through the wall into the millinery shop. Schramm, who lives above his place, said he was awakened by a dog barking at 10 p. m.
Saturday, and went downstairs to investigate. The dog was in the alley and nothing appeared to be wrong, so he returned to bed.BORROWS 35 CENTS TO WED
A FORMER ST. LOUIS GIRL*Greenwich Villager Marries Lucille
B. Kahn in New York.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 17.—There is much rejoicing in the tea shops of Greenwich Village over the news that wedding bells had rung for Bergeline Tobey, 41, and Lucille B.
Kahn, 23, formerly of St. Louis. The latter became a villager just a year ago.A distinguished-looking man with an imperial beard and a hand-curling mustache and a comely young woman with bobbed hair applied for a marriage license Saturday. The bridgroom showed embarrassment when the clerk said: "The fee is $2."
Fishing in sundry pockets of his Palm Beach suit, he was able to produce only $1.65. Eddie Hart, one of the clerks, offered to lend him 35 cents to make up the deficit. This the prospective bridegroom gladly accepted, and the application was handed over. After this financial handicap had been adjusted, the couple entered an adjoining room and were made one by Deputy Clerk J. J. Mc-Cormick.The newlyweds made all haste back to the village, and their wedding
breakfast.ONE KILLED, SEVERAL INJURED,
IN TRAIN WRECK IN GEORGIABy the Associated Press.
SAVANNAH, Ga., July 17.—Five coaches on the Seaboard Air Line train No. 3, New York & Jacksonville, turned over at 5:30 o'clock this morning one mile south of Cox, Ga.
A negro dining car cook was killed and several passengers were injured.
The train struck a broken rail and five of the cars were tossed into the ditch. The locomotive remained on the track with two cars.Shetland Wool

CHURCHES MAY SUPERVISE MANUFACTURE OF ALTAR WINE

Attorney-General in Opinion Holds This Is Legitimate Under Law.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 17.—Rabbis, ministers and priests, duly appointed by the heads of the ecclesiastical jurisdictions of their churches, may supervise the manufacture and distribution of altar wines in their specified territories under new regulations being considered by Revenue Collector Blair. It was expressed in an opinion from Attorney-General Daugherty.

The national prohibition act, Daugherty held, indicated a desire on the part of Congress to place in the hands of the church itself a power whereby it will never be forced to use inferior products for sacramental purposes nor ever be left without means of supplying its needs for sacramental wines.

"The intent of Congress is clear," the Attorney-General said, "to abolish the business of the middleman to distribute sacramental wines, but the intent is equally apparent to permit the church, if it agrees to assume the responsibility through its duly authorized rabbi, minister or priest, full power to supervise the manufacture of altar wines and it is my opinion that the specific grant of the greater privilege of the supervision of manufacture carries with it the lesser privilege of supervision of distribution."

The Attorney-General's opinion puts an end to a long fight by various religious bodies who claimed that the elimination of the sacramental wine dealers from business through the denial of Treasury permits shut off all legitimate channels for obtaining proper wines for sacramental purposes and forced the churches to use spirits of uncertain standard.

Train Hits Auto, Six Killed.

By the Associated Press. BELFAST, Me., July 17.—Six persons were killed when a Maine Central train struck an automobile at a crossing near Burnham Junction yesterday. A baby in its mother's arms escaped uninjured while five of the seven occupants of the car were killed. A sixth died in a hospital.

Scare Results in Insanity.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, July 17.—Sing Sing attendants announced today that Terachi Soesuma, a Japanese prisoner, has gone insane and has just been transferred to Dannemora State Hospital as a result of fellow prisoners playing a joke upon him. They frightened him so he became obsessed with a notion he was to be put in the electric chair and executed, say the attendants.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 17.—Recessions running from fractions to one point marked the opening of today's session of the stock exchange. Elements of the week-end, especially in their relation to coal and railroad strikes, seemed to encourage further selling pressure from professional investors. Losses among steel, several of the copper, industrial alcohol and Western Union Telegraph.

Some of the early selling originated from interior sources, but compensation houses reported little outside interest. Oil continued to be offered on the further cuts in crude products at Eastern and Southwest centers. Gains of 1 to 2 points were made by some steel and equipment shares, however. Crucible, Lackawanna, Gulf Steel, General Electric, Pressed Steel Car and Railway Steel Springs being in further demand. Rails were more irregular. Baltimore & Ohio and Great Northern easing, while Canadian Pacific and other transcontinentals were steady to firm. Sumatra Tobacco was heaviest of the specialties, falling 2 1/2 points. Call money opened at 3 per cent.

Dealings in bonds during the first half of today's session were light, but mostly at gains over last week's final prices. Liberties held firm; French Municipalities were fractionally better and Belgian Government 5 1/2s. but the two classes of Mexican Government issues were heavy. Moderate gains were made by Erie general 7s of 1920. Consolidated Gas 7s, Central Leather 5s and Armour 4 1/2s. Baltimore & Ohio and Great Northern easing, while Canadian Pacific and other transcontinentals were steady to firm. Sumatra Tobacco was heaviest of the specialties, falling 2 1/2 points. Call money opened at 3 per cent.

Wall Street News and Comment —SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 17.—The stock market could not escape today the unsettling effect of the news regarding the coal and railroad strikes, but as soon as traders determined that the situation was at least no more disturbing than on Saturday, the first of prices succeeded the first hour's irregularity.

The ability of the oil company issues to throw aside the influence of additional reductions in crude petroleum prices in the East suggested both that the general reduction in the price level had been discounted last week and that the reported demand for particular refined products was supporting speculative confidence in the future. As far as the strikes were concerned, there was no clear sign that both government officials and participants in the controversy were anxious to find some points of contact and that the market hoped that settlement in both troublesome situations might be found shortly.

The action of the clearing house bank statement on Saturday was a factor in the market's recovery, and supplies for the forward of the new week were not expected to be a source of standing loans. If there are forces working for a light before the usual autumn requirements draw near, the market might find some support at this time. While the July note of the clearing house bank statement on Saturday was a factor in the market's recovery, and supplies for the forward of the new week were not expected to be a source of standing loans. If there are forces working for a light before the usual autumn requirements draw near, the market might find some support at this time.

Attempt to Resuscitate Conference Regarded as New Proof of Serious Economic Situation.

By the Associated Press.
THE HAGUE, July 17.—A communication from the Russian delegation today held out a prospect that the conference on Russian affairs here, which had seemed on the verge of a final breakdown, might be resumed.

Soviet Russia will accept Europe's invitation to restate its case. This information was conveyed to the Associated Press by the soviet spokesman.

In the meantime, the non-Russian delegations continued their work of preparing reports of the three sub-committees to show why they failed to reach an accord with the Russian delegates on the vital questions of property, delegates and credits.

Europe's attempt to resuscitate the Hague conference is regarded as additional proof of the seriousness of the general economic situation.

The Hague has become a sort of barometer for Europe as a whole. Many of the non-Russians believe that the rupture with the Russians was overhasty and that more time and patience should have been employed in studying the Russian problem. Some of the smaller states, headed by Switzerland, feel particularly that matters were too quickly brought to a crisis and that the chasm between communism and capitalism is so wide it can be bridged only, if at all, by time and limitless investigation and study.

PROHIBITION CAN'T LAST,
SACKS SAYS AT WARRENTON

Republican Senate Candidate Asks That Opponents Declare Themselves on Issue.

WARRENTON, Mo., July 17.—Prohibition cannot last, because it is based upon a lie, and a lie cannot endure, said William Sacks of St. Louis, beer and wine candidate for the Republican United States senatorial nomination, in an address here yesterday before the Republican Women's Club.

"To me the senatorship is of small importance as compared with the foundation on which we must build our republicanism in this state," Sacks said. "The Republican situation in Missouri has been rather tortuous. Men elected to its highest offices have in many instances ignored the existence of the party organization and have attempted to arrogate to themselves the duties which rightfully belong within the organization."

He asked that every candidate declare himself unequivocally on the "w" and dry question.

The candidate also discussed the "gradual drifting upon our part into a Federal commission form of government, away from democracy as originally framed by the makers of our Constitution."

FREILINGHUYSEN PLAN FAVORED

Senator Capper Says Present Method in Tariff Is "Unbusinesslike."

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Senator Capper of Kansas and Polandexter of Washington, in statements made public through the Non-Partisan Scientific Tariff League, announced their support of the Frelinghuyzen amendment to the tariff measure now before the Senate. This amendment provides for reorganization of the tariff commission and for the appointment of a committee to study the tariff and to report thereon. Senator Capper declared in his statement that the present method of framing tariff legislation "is impracticable and unbusinesslike."

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS FOR PROSECUTOR AND ALDERMAN
BEING WARMLY CONTESTED

Four Men Seeking Former Place and Five Are Candidates From 24th Ward for Latter—No Democratic Contests.

Two nominations which are being warmly contested in the Republican primary Aug. 1 are those for Prosecuting Attorney of the Court of Criminal Correction and for Alderman of the Twenty-fourth Ward, for an unexpired term. In the Democratic primary these nominations are uncontested.

The task of enforcing the State prohibition law, in conjunction with the police, falls upon the Prosecuting Attorney of the Court of Criminal Correction, whose office issues warrants for violation of this law. He conducts prosecutions in misdemeanor cases.

Members of the Board of Aldermen are regularly elected at the odd-year spring elections. A vacancy was caused by the death of the Alderman of the Twenty-fourth Ward, and under the law, this vacancy must be filled at the next election. While the candidates for all residents of the Twenty-fourth Ward, the nomination and election will be determined by the voters of the entire city.

Facts are given here as to the candidates for these nominations.

Prosecuting Attorney.

REPUBLICAN.

Albert W. Johnson, 3018 Geyer avenue. Studied law at Benton Law College, has been practicing here since 1914. Son of the late Charles P. Johnson, widely known criminal lawyer and one-time Lieutenant Governor, who held more than 20 years ago, an office corresponding to the one which his son is now seeking.

A. Samuel Bender, 6160 Washington avenue. Was a newsboy from the age of 10 and took bar examination. Studied law at Washington University and has been practicing for seven years. The "honorary" State Deputy Game Warden's nomination issued to John J. Doyle, alias Thomas McKenna, a notorious gangster, who was killed by detectives Jan. 6, was granted at Bender's request. It authorized Doyle to carry a revolver. Bender said he did not know Doyle was a police officer.

Joseph C. Schroeder, 1802 Oregon avenue. Educated in Waltham College and Benton College of Law, passed State bar examination in 1914 and has been practicing here since. Has served as provisional Judge of Court of Criminal Correction, Division 2. Member Republican City Committee from Fifteenth Ward. Is admitted to the bar in 21 professional, business, civic and fraternal organizations.

J. Ray Weinbrenner, 5463 Maple avenue. Graduated from Washington University Law School in 1909 and has been engaged in law practice here since. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, 1912 to 1920.

Albert L. Schweitzer, 3411 Connecticut street. Assistant Circuit Court Judge, appointed in January, 1921. In charge of warrant office for a year, and since last February has served as prosecutor in Courtroom 12, and has obtained convictions in several robbery and burglary cases. Graduated University of Missouri, 1911; served in navy in war period. (No Democratic contest.)

THOUSANDS SEE CAMEL
PRESENTATION AT ZOOMoolah Shrine Temple Holds Ceremonies Following Animal Parade.

"Noble Moolah," a camel, was presented to the St. Louis zoo at Forest Park yesterday morning in a ceremony attended by thousands of spectators by Moolah Temple. Ancient Arabic Order. Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. The beast is a fine specimen and valued at $750. It will be kept at the zoo on exhibition.

The ceremony of presentation was preceded by an animal parade from Jefferson Memorial to the sea lions' pools, in which about 800 Moolah Temple Shrine members also marched. A tinge of the oriental was given to the procession by the garb of zoo attendants, who were clad in Arabic costume.

The assembly point was Jefferson Memorial and the time 10 o'clock. Several thousand spectators were present and considerable confusion was created by the eagerness of persons to get a close-up view of the animals.

The zoo elephant was caparisoned and carried a howdah in which were Mayor Kiel, Park Commissioner Pape, president of the Zoological Board of Control, and a cart, Martha, the smaller elephant; the cub bears and the Shrine Temple's two goats were also in the parade.

Mounted patrolmen preceded the parade, which was led by Sam, the Board of Aldermen, 24th Ward.

(Unexpired term.)

Herman Groeschel, 5700 A Reber place. Master plumber and accountant; brother of the late Alderman Charles Groeschel, whose death left the present vacancy. Worked two and one-half years as chief examiner in the State Auditor's office in Jefferson City. In investigating the State's liability to the city of St. Louis for its share of the expenses of the City Assessor's office, Groeschel showed that a balance of more than $39,000 was due the city from the State. The matter was taken up by the city authorities, and the obligation was paid by the State. Groeschel asked the city to compensate him by giving him 3 per cent of the amount recovered, but this has not been done.

Edward H. Rabenberg, 7201 Southwest avenue. Served in the lower house in the Fifth General Assembly; member House of Delegates from 1910 to 1912. In the House of Delegates, Rabenberg put through an ordinance requiring three shifts for watchmen at railroad crossings; had 52 miles of streets paved in his ward; 492 street lights installed, and obtained two playgrounds for his ward. In the Legislature was chairman of the Committee on Commerce and Manufacture, and served on the committees on Roads and Highways, Workmen's Compensation and Annexation. Voted for annexation measures, woman suffrage children's code. Is president of the South Side Roofing Co., the Maplewood Motor Sales Co., and the Ellendale Building and Investment Co., and vice president of the Bank of Maplewood. Indorsed by Twenty-fourth Ward Women's Republican precinct organization.

Chauncey J. Krueger, 2328 South Kings highway. Lawyer. Former Justice of the Peace; elected in 1916 for four-year term, as Judge, Court of Criminal Correction. He was fought for re-election by the League of Women Voters in 1920, being one of the "three K's" on whom the women concentrated their attack. Was defeated by Anthony Hoehdoerfer, Democrat, and was thus ousted from office. He is a local ticket who were beaten in a Republican landslide year. The chief complaints against Krueger as a Judge were regarding laxity in dealing with professional bondsmen, and the ruling against the city zoning ordinance, which was later upheld by the Missouri Supreme Court in a decision which the city is now seeking to have reversed.

August J. Lange, 7042 Tholozan avenue. Has been connected with a stamp and stationery company for the last 36 years. Was educated in public schools and Washington University Law School. Former treasurer of Cote Brillante School Parents' Alliance; former president Lindenwood School Improvement Association. Has served as election judge 36 years. Acted in wartime as registrar, bond drive captain and in Red Cross work.

Edmer E. Walter, 5217 Nottingham avenue. Lawyer; graduate St. Louis University School of Law. Has held office in ward political and law enforcement and district school organizations.

(No Democratic contest.)

orang outang, riding a velocipede. The Shrine band, drum and bugle corps and chanters followed in the parade, and the camel, elephant and other animals. About 800 members of Moolah Temple took up the rear.

The formal presentation was made at the sea lions' plaza by former Judge Walter J. Neum, President George T. Dieckmann, president of the Zoological Society, made the speech of acceptance.

ARGENTINA BUYING U. S. AUTOS

American Polish Now Shining the Country's Shoes.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The Automobiles from the United States are capturing the Argentine markets, according to reports to the Commerce Department from Buenos Aires. During the month of June imports of automobiles into Argentina totaled 537 cars, of which 524 came from this country and 13 from Europe.

American polish is shining the shoes of Argentina, the department also has been informed. Previous to the war Great Britain and Germany supplied the greater part of the shoe polish used in Argentina, but at the present time it is reported that 90 per cent of the imported polish comes from the United States.

WARNING BY BARRETT
AGAINST FACTIONALISM

Senate Candidate Says He Is Alarmed at Harmony Claims of Brewster and Proctor.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WARRENTON, July 17.—Attorney-General Barrett in a speech to Republican women of Warren County at a picnic near here yesterday, pointed a warning finger at the fight now raging between factions of Kansas City Republicans over the rival claims of R. M. Brewster and State Senator David M. Proctor, both of Kansas City, for the Republican nomination for the United States senatorship.

"That situation is the reason hundreds of Republicans asked me to get out of my ready direct answer. I believe in party organization and have always been identified with the party organization, but not with any of its factions. To my mind, however, the Republican organization in Missouri is composed of staunch Missouri Republicans and what I object to is the attempted domination by a small group of the inside men of politics who gather in midnight conferences."

Disturbed by Harmony Claims.

"I thought we had cleaned up election frauds in Kansas City, but I am a little disturbed by the harmony claims of the Kansas City candidates each of whom says that he will get 90 per cent of that city's vote. I hope they are not counting on repeaters. Each of those candidates insists that he is the sole solution to their political differences and that he alone can bring harmony. It reminds me of a meeting I attended once where everybody was out of humor, but kept talking about harmony. You know, one old man arose and said, 'harmony is darned. What we need is to get together.' If the Kansas City candidates will join in a statement, we are all ready to believe them, but up to this point they have not even been able to agree as to whether one of them is or is not a Republican. If you are looking at the primary with the welfare of the Republic in mind, the foremost real question becomes that of which candidate will make the strongest appeal in November. His appeal must rest solely on promises, for anyone can promise."

"What is a Republican State, but I do not believe that we are so absolutely confident that we can risk the election of a man of whom the majority of Missourians never heard until this morning, since we have established in 1829, amounts to $33,234,881."

The total receipts amounted to $2,648,002.37, including a balance of $694,957 in the treasury at the beginning of the last fiscal year, April 1, 1921. The total of operations and maintenance last year was $2,011,044.52, a decrease of $174,287 as compared to the previous year. The total income this year exceeded the expenses by $1,000. Total cost of installation of the water works, since its establishment in 1829, amounts to $33,234,881.

CRITICISM OF BRITISH CABINET

English Trade Publication Finds Fault With Democratic Method of Dress.

LONDON, July 17.—That authoritative paper, the Tailor and Cutter, declares that the Ministers, from Premier Lloyd George down to the lowest official, are dressed with the care befitting their high offices.

"We must confess we were disappointed and slightly astonished at the Premier's dress on the occasion," says the Tailor and Cutter, commenting on the recent conference with Premier Poincare. "A light gray suit does not do for a man of his position, and it is a pity that he has a certain amount of formality. He has tried to be a dandy, but restlessness and adiposity will keep breaking the verdict for the then of Cabinet. The Earl of Balfour's collar and tie suggest a Methodist parson. LABOR PARTY IS ORGANIZED Socialists and Union Members in New York Make Up Political Body.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 17.—The American Labor party came into being yesterday morning, 236 delegates to the fusion convention here voting unanimously to call themselves by that name. It is made up of the Socialist and farm and labor unions.

It nominated a full set of Congressional, Assembly, State Senate, judicial and city candidates, and for offices to be contested this fall in New York. These candidates will go on both the Socialist and Farm Labor ticket, because the new party has not yet been legally recognized and so cannot be given a place in the convention decided, shall be "labor first."

STRESSES NEED OF NEW WATERWORKS STATION

Commissioner's Annual Report Says Long Dry Period Would Overtax Present Plant.

The annual report of Water Commissioner Wall to Director of Public Utilities Hooke, made today, stresses the necessity of beginning construction of the proposed Missouri River waterworks for which $12,000,000 is provided in the civic bond issue of $77,300,000, to be voted on Feb. 14, 1923.

The proposed location of the new waterworks is at a point known as Howard's Bend, eight miles above St. Charles, and the water is to be brought to St. Louis through St. Louis County and the West End. Commissioner Wall sets forth in his report that the consumption of water in the last two summers has been below normal owing to frequent rains and expresses the opinion that a long dry period would make such a demand upon existing facilities as to overtax them and cause a serious water shortage.

Should Have Started in 1921. He says that the new works should have been started last year, expressing the belief that present facilities will be inadequate to the new works are ready should they delay until the average daily consumption of water per capita in St. Louis during the fiscal year ending April 1 was 131.7 gallons, figured on a basis of 733,000 population, as compared to 139 gallons in New York, 276 in Chicago, 162 in Philadelphia and 135 in Cleveland.

Daily Consumption.

The average daily consumption for the entire city was 102,514,477 gallons, and the total gallons consumed during the year was 37,782,734,200. The total pumped by the Chain of Rocks station was 39,639,920 gallons and the difference between this and the amount used by the population was used in flushing out basins at the pumping station.

From the 10 settling basins were taken 232,352 tons of mud, sand and other solids. The total receipts amounted to $2,648,002.37, including a balance of $694,957 in the treasury at the beginning of the last fiscal year, April 1, 1921. GARVAN CHEMICAL CONCERN
REFUSES TO RETURN ALIEN
PATENTS TO GOVERNMENT

Former Property Custodian Writes Harding That He Has Been "Grossly Misled by Attorney General."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 17.—The Chemical Foundation, Inc., has declined to comply with the request of the Alien Property Custodian, Thomas W. Miller, that it return to the Government the patents, trademarks and copyrights assigned to the company, a letter written by Francis P. Garvan, president of the foundation, made public here, discloses.

Another letter from Garvan to President Harding avers that the information given the President about the case "has been furnished by German agents to the ex-German spy and interpreted by lawyers whose sole knowledge of the war and its lessons is derived from association with German clients."

Urged to Seek Other Counsel.

The President is urged by Garvan to seek "other counsel," the letter declaring that he has been "grossly misled by the Attorney-General both as to the law and the facts of this case."

In his letter to Alien Property Custodian Miller, Garvan states: "This will acknowledge the receipt of your communication dated the 15th day of July 1922, demanding that this company return and deliver to you all patents, trademarks and copyrights heretofore assigned to this company by the Alien Property Custodian, that the company account to you for income received by it from such patents, trademarks and copyrights, and that the company forthwith cease to exercise any continuing control over such trademarks, copyrights and patents."

Wilson Quoted. In reply thereto you are advised that this company is owner, in its own right, of the trademarks, patents, trademarks and copyrights and of the income derived therefrom. The company denies that the United States Government or you as Alien Property Custodian or anyone other than this company has any right, title or interest in said patents, trademarks and copyrights. The company, therefore, declines to comply with your demand in any particular whatsoever."

After reciting in the letter to President Harding what he states were the steps which led to the sale of the patents, trademarks and copyrights of the foundation, including the numerous quotations from former Acting Secretary of State Polk and one from former President Wilson, Garvan says:

"It is the first time in the history of the United States Government that the chief executive has been advised by his Attorney-General to attempt to abrogate the solemn executive order of his predecessor. It is the first time for America, the United States that the chief executive has been advised by his Attorney-General to violate a sacred contract entered into by the Government with its citizens."

Reiterating that the company has not realized any profits to date, Garvan urges President Harding "in American fairness," to direct the Government auditors now going over the foundation's books "to seek and seek, and then to certify to the American people whether I or anyone else connected with the sale have ever received anything but abuse."

"Trust for American People." "Mr. President," the letter continues, "you have had the temerity to impugn the honor of the gentlemen who boast a part in the great work of building up or preserving the possibility of progress in organic chemistry. That trust was founded in American people's confidence and the safety of their children and the children of their children."

In conclusion, Garvan informs President Harding that he has not gone on with disclosures. "For I am," he says, "that the great issue is not one of disclosure, but of principle. But I beg of you to seek other counsel."

After the fall of the Four Courts the Irish republicans became more aggressive and patrolled the streets of Cork in armored cars, suppressing all public expressions of opinion in favor of the Free State.

NONMORMON WINS REPUBLICAN
SENATE NOMINATION IN UTAH

Sudden Shift of Votes at State Convention Resulted in Selection of Ernest Bamberger.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 17.—Hopes of Utah republicans for the capture of another seat in the United States Senate this autumn have been dampened by the nomination of a nonmormon at the State convention Saturday. The choice fell on Ernest Bamberger, nephew of former Gov. Bamberger, by a sudden shift of votes after Morban candidates forced a deadlock.

It has been recognized in Utah politics since Apostle Reed Smith was sent to Washington that a nonmormon had a chance to be Senator. In fact, it is said to be the policy of the Mormon powers to maintain a Mormon Democrat and a Mormon Republican as Senators. This is the situation now, Senator King being the Democratic Mormon.

TO ABOLISH FEE SYSTEM

Belleville Council Plans to Put Off-icers on Salary Basis.

The abolishment of all fee systems in the city government of Belleville is planned by the Belleville City Council and the matter will be brought up at its meeting tonight. It is planned to place the City Clerk and Police Magistrate on a straight salary and compel them to turn all fees into the city treasury. At tonight's meeting Mayor Anton will also ask the Council to consider the enactment of a local anti-liquor ordinance for the municipal enforcement of the dry law and also an ordinance providing for the removal from saunas of all screens, curtains, frosted and glazed windows.

GERMANY MAKES
DEPOSITS TO MEET
JULY REPARATIONS

Sum of 32,000,000 Gold Marks Has Been Placed in Designated Banks, Commission Is Informed.

MORATORIUM FIRMLY
OPPOSED BY FRENCH

Paris Informed That Germany Plans to Suspend Payments on Pre-War Commercial Debts.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 17.—The Reparations Commission was officially notified today that Germany had deposited 32,000,000 gold marks in designated banks to meet her July 15 reparations payment.

Dr. Wilhelm Meyer, official representative of the German Government, has informed the French Government that Germany plans to suspend payments of her pre-war commercial debts on which 11,500,000 gold marks will be due this year according to calculations. This sum, subject to the Governments to consider for basis for cash payments in reparations.

French Oppose Moratorium. It is understood the French Government resolved firmly to resist any moratorium until the Reparations Commission should have exhausted all means given to it under the terms of the Versailles treaty to enforce collection.

The instructions given by Premier Poincare are understood to insist that the commission shall make sure Germany shall not pay interest on interior loans until reparations have been exacted. Premier Poincare is resolved that this phase of the reparations shall be cleared up before considering other lines of action.

Committee Returns.

The Committee on Guarantees arrived in Paris from Germany today. The committee has forwarded word to the Reparations Commission that it expects to be ready to present its report on the German situation Wednesday.

Premier Poincare has written the German Government, proposing that the Wiesbaden agreement governing payment of reparations in kind shall go into effect July 20. This understanding becomes of supreme importance to France in view of the prospect that no more cash payments will be made for a time at least. The other allied Governments have received all the 500,000,000 gold marks coming to them this year in goods, while France has obtained only 5,000,000 out of the 500,000,000 allotted to her by the Reparations Commission. Hence she is obviously anxious to get the agreement working as soon as possible.

"MOIST" SENTIMENT INDICATED
BY MAGAZINE'S STRAW VOTE

Literary Digest Poll's Result to Date Shows Majority Against Volstead Law.

NEW YORK, July 17.—In its report of the first count of ballots in its poll of 10,000,000 Americans to discover public opinion regarding the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act, the Literary Digest publishes figures that indicate a preponderance of sentiment against the Volstead act. This is the significant feature of the count so far made.

It is expressed most clearly in the returns from the mid-Atlantic States—New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania—where the total show 14,565 for enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and Volstead law as they stand, 18,495 for modification of the Volstead act, and 11,545 for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The count for New Jersey is negligible, however, as the total of ballots from that State reported is only 51 of the 95,919 for the three states.

The New England, the Eastern Mid-West and the Pacific states all show similar but varying majorities for modification of the Volstead act. The question which has brought this majority of answers is: "Do you favor a modification of the Volstead law to permit light wines and beer?" This obviously includes support of the eighteenth amendment and legislation to enforce it.

In Kansas, the votes run 111 for strict enforcement to 14 for modification and 14 for repeal of the amendment. The Literary Digest comments on the situation in these states: "Thus the prohibitionists, it is seen, outnumber the combined moist and wet by almost three to one, a situation that is duplicated in no other State."

Brewster's "Harding-Coolidge Club."
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
BY what right does Mr. R. R. Brewster conduct his campaign for the nomination as Republican candidate for United States Senator under the auspices of a committee known as the "Harding-Coolidge Club?"

Is it the intention of his supporters to try to deceive the unthinking by creating the impression that the President and Vice President of the United States have personally endorsed Mr. Brewster, asks the votes of Republicans for him in the primary election, ignoring the rights of several other good Republicans who are candidates in the same election?

I do not believe that either the President or the Vice President have authorized the objectionable use which is being made of an organization which has its purpose their election in 1920 to the offices they now hold, and which has been brought down from the attic and is being used with the express purpose of misleading the voters.

Is a Republican and a supporter of nominally Barrett, who is seeking the platform for the office in question on the party and repudiates control of situated bosses such by a few self-conceited and Mr. Coolidge in Mr. Harding campaign and I believe that primary will also resent it when their pitmea is called to it.

Is Mr. Brewster afraid to organize campaign committees under his own name as have Mr. Barrett and all of the other candidates for nomination?

GLYNN B. CHIPLEY.

Those Shy Philanthropists.

Why are all the denials and evasions about contributions to the Anti-Saloon League? If prohibition has done half as much for the country as its paid supporters claim for it, those who contributed to make it such a success should be proud to have their names published. Instead the first intimation that a party has been a contributor brings forth vigorous denials. Why?

If it is such a good thing, tell the world you have helped it along. Let us know the names of our benefactors.

Widen St. Louis Avenue.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHILE I was in a taxi, the other afternoon, riding out St. Louis avenue on my way to your ball park, I was more than surprised to see that a line street named for your fine city should be neglected. St. Louis avenue should be made at least 100 feet wide from Grand boulevard to your Broadway, as it is in reality the only auto street in North St. Louis. It should be so arranged like Locust or Washington avenue thoroughfares; that is, place a double car track on one side of the street and take enough off of the sidewalk and houses to have the autos have plenty of room both east and west bound. This street which is named for your city should be widened from Broadway clear to your western limits. Naturally one would think that the street named for your city would be a leading thoroughfare instead of the little narrow street as it is. I really am surprised that your North St. Louis industrial associations have not approached your Mayor and had the same widened during his administration.

BROWNS.

"Machine" Candidates.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN GIVING the public a record of the men running for office, do you not think it wise to show whether or not they are endorsed by the machine bosses? A great number of people in St. Louis have no use for "the machine" and would not knowingly vote for a candidate endorsed by it. You would do a great favor to these persons by showing if the candidate was running free or had the support of the machine.

Just prior to the election it might be well to print sample ballot showing the parties running independently and another, if you chose of those sponsored by the bosses.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

CANNOT you use the influence of your great paper in behalf of your humane subscribers and do something toward placing the dog pound permanently under the control of the Humane Society? Let Mr. Becker have the position if need be—or let Mayor Kiel make another opening for him, but do not let the shameful conditions that previously existed in handling stray dogs again leave St. Louis and her citizens a joke in more advanced cities. Have the taxpayers nothing to say regarding the management of our city institutions—where are our women voters—where the Chamber of Commerce forever preaching "progress?"

Three friends man has along life's jog: His mother, money and his dog. Someone please start things moving in this respect.

FRIEND OF THE HELPLESS.

THE FRUITS OF FAILURE.

The difficulties which beset and threaten to wreck the Harding administration are chargeable only in part to the President. Their real genesis dates back to the Congress elected in the fall of 1918. The duty of that Congress was reconstruction and a Republican majority was returned because Republican spellbinders persuaded us that their party was the party of efficiency and pre-eminently qualified to meet the exacting, practical requirements of the hour.

That Congress failed abjectly. The one piece of constructive legislation was the transportation act and it is doubtful if that act would have been passed if President Wilson, after granting one extension of time, had not fixed a date for the return of the railroads to private management, regardless.

Instead of devoting its energies to the work of reconstruction the Republican leaders of that Congress concentrated on the political program of defaming and undermining the Wilson administration and restoring the Republican party to full power. It achieved a remarkable political success, but in every other respect the record is a story of delinquency.

The extraordinary capacity for doing nothing has been handed down to the present Congress. The results that seethe and rage around us are the inescapable heritage of evasion, incapacity and an appalling lack of understanding and vision.

Without leadership, without service, without purpose other than the foolish day dream of "getting back to normalcy," we have drifted aimlessly into the present whirlpool.

It may be that the restlessness, dissatisfaction, turmoil and violence through which we have successively passed was an unavoidable aftermath of war, but surely it could have been allayed to a great extent if the Government at Washington had instituted the economies it had promised and had energetically undertaken to command popular confidence and respect. Under the head of reconstruction nothing of real moment has been accomplished, with the important exception of the armament congress.

A process of deflation under private initiative has been at work, but it is undeniable that wages have been deflated a good deal faster than the cost of living. As a matter of fact, such deflation as has occurred in prices will be largely, if not wholly, wiped out should the pending tariff bill be passed. That is our plight four years after the close of the war.

When the war ended the world was sick, economically, industrially, morally and temperamentally. Of that world we are a component part. Congress chose to shut its eyes to that fact. In consequence the inflammation from which the rest of the world has suffered has finally spread to us. That inflammation can still be reduced by sensible local applications, but a cure calls for deeper, sounder treatment.

If the present administration cannot see that reconstruction, to be effective, must be conducted on a world scale, then the people must, in due time, elect an administration that can see this truth—an administration with vision to see that 1914 is a date in history and that the problems of the new age require new solutions.

FROM DEBROYER TO PRODUCER.

People who have ignored the drying up of parks and lawns, gardens and golf links in and near St. Louis, as well as the current of crops by drouth over the country are not making to feel any better by reading of the overflowing of the Red River, the inundation of a large area of land and the floating of bundles of wheat down the channel in a golden stream.

There is a relation between these conditions, even though in this case it may be remote. Floodwaters can and eventually will be impounded for use over land in the vicinity needs moisture. Also, they will be, in a measure, prevented. It is all a part of the science of drainage, flood control and the conservation of nature. Engineers have found that deforestation and indiscriminate drainage of lakes, ponds and swamps have stripped the earth of its natural reservoirs and caused rainfall to rush suddenly into the river channels as it rushes from a pavement into the gutters, destroying property, ruining land and leaving the soil devoid of its natural resources of moisture.

When river channels have been deepened and straightened, when we are provided against flood with reservoirs and when deforestation without replacement and indiscriminate drainage have been stopped, we shall hear little, if any, more of the flood menace and less of drouth, and we shall be drawing from the rivers a wealth of hydro-electric power and navigation service. It is a stupendous program and one which cannot be begun too early.

IMPENDING GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

The coal operators, unconsciously, we presume, are fighting hard for Government control of coal mines and coal mining. The high-handed, despotic policy of many operators in handling their mines and their men and the obstinacy of others in refusing to arbitrate are driving the Government steadily towards control.

The people of this country cannot live without coal, and it is certain that if the owners and operators who have been permitted to hold and work the coal mines cannot or will not create conditions that will keep the miners at work and maintain sufficient coal production, the Government must take charge.

It is not a question of the wisdom of or policy of Government control, but of necessity. The people prefer private operation, but when private operation fails down public control becomes imperative.

The same thing may be said of railroad operation. The people cannot live without transportation. If railroad managements and their employees will not agree to conditions which will keep railroads in operation and will avoid disastrous strikes, the Government must take a hand. There must either be compulsory arbitration or actual Government control.

The crisis when decisive action must be taken in both the coal and the railway strikes is rapidly approaching. Wisdom suggests a quick solution of pending problems which are threatening the country with disaster.

FRUGALITY AND POWER.

Rome, says a Post-Dispatch correspondent, is astonished at the frugality which marks the life of Pope Pius XI. A description of his living environment consists chiefly of a catalogue of the amenities of life which he does without.

While the Pope's function is spiritual he is one of the potentates of Christendom, and his powers and prerogatives are princely. The pomp of royalty is at his command. His choice is the austere simplicity which is the lot of a poor clerk or a clergyman.

The cushion of luxury is an insulation from life's vicissitudes. Pope Pius XI appreciates this historic fact. It would be well for democracies living on such traditions as Valley Forge and Abraham Lincoln if their leaders and delegated executives would do likewise.

Winner's luck is an important element in every successful career, and our flashing Cardinals have it.

BRING ON THE RIOT, VICTOR.

If he thought there were 10,000 red-blooded men in St. Louis Victor Miller would broadcast some tidings that might start a riot, he tells us. Unfortunately, his inventory does not show 10,000 steel spines in our city. Consequently the riot will have to be postponed and the purification of politics delayed.

But is the Miller inventory reliable? On what data does he conclude that the valorous among us don't tot up 10,000? Has he ever conducted a survey, poll, census, house-to-house canvass to determine this point? Probably not. But is such an effort necessary? All of us know, in a way, our blue-blooded contingent, authentically registered, as it is, in morocco-bound, deckle-edged elegance. And the sans-culottes, the dim, obscure "other half"—that element is easily enumerated. And so, with the patrons disposed of on the one hand, and the proletariat on the other, the residuum, we take it, would necessarily be red-blooded, and, offhand, we should say it might easily total 10,000. Moreover, in offhand calculations, impressionistic reckonings and esthetic statistic, may we not be as dependable as Victor? We'll say we may.

Having now mobilized the indispensable 10,000, we may not remark, with Dewey-like aplomb, "You may're when ready, Victor?" In other words, shoot. Start a carnival. On with the dance—the Danse Macabre, if need be. That is to say, let the modern "March of the 10,000" get going. Let the Miller Red Guard buff the barbarians as lustily as its forerunner in "old, unhappy far-off times." And in the circle of our St. Louis Writers' Guild, perhaps, there will be found a Xenophon to do as well for the Vermillion Victoristas as was done for Cyrus in history's cold, gray dawn.

Anything were welcome—even the Miller megaphone—that cracked the torpor of these weak, piping tones of peace.

Trot in your riot.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

LAUCON. Well, Socrates, it looks pretty stormy, don't you think?

Socrates: It does, indeed. I think someone has said that it is always darkest just before dawn.

Laucou: I believe that is so.

Socrates: You see, we had forgotten that the world is not pretty much as it was in the days of people like Attilla and Genghis Khan. It is a different matter now to have millions of people brought to starvation, property destroyed, the processes of civilization reversed and victorious armies tramping about.

Polemarchus: Jove, yes!

Socrates: Very well. There was only one way in which we could learn this. We had to have a war in which everybody, both the victors and the losers, came down to hardscrabble. We are at hardscrabble now. Our own country, much the richest in the world, has financial difficulties. Business is more or less paralyzed. Everybody talks about the recovery. Like as not it is going to take 50 years.

Polemarchus: At least.

Socrates: Let us look back to 1914. There had never been a time when the world was in such a state of well-being. There was food in abundance. When one part of the world lost its crops, other parts of the world came to its assistance. The nations were getting out of debt. Trade and commerce possessed the seas. What did we do to that unprecedented state of affairs?

Laucou: We kicked it into a cocked hat.

Socrates: Exactly. Now we are suffering the consequences of folly. We look out on our disordered and all but ruined world and sigh to think of another time.

Thrasymachus: A time we did not have sense enough to prize when we had it.

Socrates: Precisely. It seems that nations are a good deal like individuals. The best condition for the individual, as I make it out, is to have no choice between his day's work and anything else. Give him affluence and idleness, and it is not long before he misses a curve in his fast car and winds up his career. The same thing is true of nations. They are in a healthy condition now, despite their misery. They have to work. The world has to work. It will sputter a bit before it gets down to it. We will have strikes and rebellions. A few Governments will rise and fall; but in the end we will come out of it doing our day's work, which is the way to happiness. It was the way we achieved happiness before. The trouble before was that we had more than was good for us. I don't think that will be the case next time. The world has waked up, there are no more countries to exploit, everybody wants his share of the world's wealth, and I think our next happiness is going to have the quality of permanence.

Thrasymachus: You said, I think.

Socrates: Did I? Then let us buy a paper and see how things are shimmering today.

WHAT THE WETS ARE UP TO.

(Monroe County, Mo., Appeal.)

The real issue in the United States is between the water wagon on one side and wine and beer on the other. It is masquerading in all sorts of disguise, and these disguises will not be dropped until the next Congress gets down to business. Elimination of the Volstead law and the legalization of wines and beer will then force speedily to the front. The wet brethren will throw off the masks they carried through the campaign and stand forth to bring to pass the thing for which they were elected. By taking stock of the lineup for various candidates right now, the voter may be able to decide which side of the question they will be on if elected. John Barleycorn refuses to be dead.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

CHANGES IN ENGLAND.

H. M. TOMLINSON in Harper's Magazine for July. THERE is an England today which is never in the news. It is never discussed in Parliament. The evidence of it is never telegraphed to America.

You could suppose its presence to be invisible to all our popular politicians, though some of them like the Duke of Northumberland, glimpse it as a bedtime bogie.

The England which is still freely reported to the world is a land that no more indicates what is here than does Ptolemy's Chart the ocean to modern navigators.

The England which American visitors knew in 1914 has ceased to exist.

We realize that the foundations of the British Empire have collapsed. It was past its time, and it has gone. It is on the maps, it is in our Foreign Office, it is boldly asserted in those newspapers which are chiefly reported abroad, but it is only a romantic ghost haunting the battlements of a ruin.

Our commercial greatness, nicely adjusted on an export of coal (which now our customers do not want), a staple export supporting the passage of our paramount mercantile marine, has gone with it. It was not the war, but the peace and its treaty that ruined Europe.

We are beginning to see that it is useless to wait for a high tide to float our ship again. Her propeller shaft is fractured, and she is fairly on the rocks.

The King is on the throne, Parliament sits and goes on with the next chapter in the serial story where it was left in 1914, and the Stock Exchange maintains the familiar silk hat and daily questions. Nevertheless, the old sanctions for our society have dissolved, and we know it; and we know, too, that we must seek new and finer sanctions.

That will take at least a generation. For the liquidation of an empire, and its reassembling as a commonwealth, is not to be accomplished like the construction of a railway track.

Everybody is aware of it, though some fight desperately still against the conviction of change which is in most minds, and deny what a whole wrecked continent demonstrates to the heavens.

Yet, while this conflict is going on in the mind of a nation, of many European nations, the outward semblance of society and its institutions remains, and probably is all that Americans see when they look eastward. But the England they once knew is not here. We have begun another epoch, though the towers of the capital of that new time are too unsubstantial yet to catch the light of dawn.

SAFETY IN FLYING.

From the Kansas City Star.

THE flight of 12 seaplanes from Philadelphia to Pensacola, a distance of 1000 miles, without accident of any kind "is regarded by air officials as a high tribute to the efficiency and reliability of material and personnel." It may also be regarded as a demonstration of the safety of aerial travel where reasonable precautions are taken. That air traffic may be just as free from accidents as railroad traffic, if not even more so, has been shown in European countries. Air casualties that frequently are reported, in America or elsewhere, are in a great majority of cases due to carelessness or the taking of needless chances by those in flight.

ROLLICKING humor and with a comedy slant has play this week at the Grand Central West End Lyric Skydome, where the leading picture and the two are full of rollicking fun. have so many laughs been into one program.

The principal offering is "Reported Missing," with Owen and Pauline Garon in the roles. The story is that the plan here was to turn out a melodramatic picture which meet the serial shockers of own ground, but early in production the humorists took over and it was turned into a comedy of the most kind. This effect has been achieved by the introduction of splitting negro characters.

The story has to do with the wreck of a gang of scheming including a Chinese, to prevent from executing an op purchase of a fleet of ships. The hero and hero, kidnapped and carried on a ship which later goes through a terrific storm and is stranded.

"REPORTED MISSING" GOOD FILM FARCE

"Over the Border," an Effective Northwest Picture in Which Plot-Initiation Gives Basis for Plot.

ROLICKING humor and thrills with a comedy slant have full play this week at the New Grand Central, West End Lyric and Lyric Skydome, where both the leading picture and the two-reeler are full of rollicking fun. Seldom have so many laughs been crowded into one program.

The principal offering is "Reported Missing," with Owen Moore and Pauline Garon in the leading roles. One feels that the original plan here was to turn out a highly melodramatic picture which would meet the serial shockers on their own ground, but early in its production the humorous possibilities were seen and it was turned into a farce comedy of the most hilarious kind. This effect has been heightened by the introduction of a side-splitting negro characterization by Tom Wilson.

The story has to do with the efforts of a gang of scheming villains, including a Chinese, to prevent the hero from executing an option for purchase of a fleet of merchant ships. The hero and heroine are kidnapped and carried on board a ship which later goes through a terrific storm and is stranded on a reef.

In the excitement of the shipwreck the Chinese villain goes to the ship in a speed boat and kidnaps the girl. A navy seaplane goes to the rescue and there is much thrilling action before everything is straightened out. The shipwreck episodes are hilariously humorous. With rare farcical skill the situation of a ship's crew and passengers stranded and running out of food is given a comical twist. As if this were not fun enough for one person, the program also includes a Larry Semon comedy, "Two Kings," which is right in key with the main picture.

Another Northwest Mounted Police Film

Once more that romantic figure, the Northwest mounted policeman, steps into the movie spotlight in "Over the Border," this week's attraction at the Missouri Theater. Of course the settings are in the great Northwest and the plot bears close resemblance to many "frozen North" stories, but a modern touch is given by putting the hero on the trail of the leader of a gang of smugglers who are sending whisky across the Canadian border into the United States.

Tom Moore is the hero and Betty Compton the heroine, who, as might be guessed, is the daughter of the smuggler chief. This complicates the situation for the brave and devoted royal mounted star, for early in the action he has met and fallen in love with the girl, not knowing that the man he has been ordered to arrest is her father. The leading parts are in good hands. Miss Compton has unusual opportunities for fine emotional work in the climax, where her wit and resourcefulness saves the situation and makes it possible for the hero to realize his love dream without being recaptured to his duty.

'SPRING MAID' BRINGS IN TOTAL OF $28,300

New High Record Established for Week by Municipal Opera.

According to figures not yet revised by accountants, the receipts for six performances of "The Spring Maid," closing last night, totaled $28,300—a new high record for any single week in the history of the municipal opera. It is unofficially estimated that the income for the first six of the eight weeks of the present season is in the neighborhood of $188,000.

The season still has two weeks to run. Beginning tomorrow night, "The Queen's Lace Handkerchief," by Johann Strauss, will be presented, and next week the offering will be Emmerich Kallman's opera, "Miss Springtime."

Last night's audience was said to be the largest Sunday gathering ever present at a municipal opera performance. The receipts were above $5000 and the attendance close to 8800—a figure which does not include an overflow of several hundred from the free section to the outside of the wire screens along the pergola.

MAN KILLED IN HOTEL LOBBY AT ELDORADO SPRINGS, MO.

Alleged Assailant of Paul Huff, Prominent in Southwestern Missouri Politics, Arrested.

By the Associated Press.
ELDORADO SPRINGS, July 17.—Paul Huff, prominent in Republican politics in Southwestern Missouri and brother of Roy N. Huff, Prosecuting Attorney of Cedar County, was killed late yesterday in the lobby of a hotel. Witnesses said that E. Simmons, who was arrested and charged with murder, struck Huff in the face three times with his fist.

The two men attended a baseball game at Stockton in the afternoon, the killing taking place soon afterward when they met in the hotel. Simmons and Huff had been unfriendly for the last two years, according to persons intimate with Huff. Two years ago, it was stated, they quarreled at a ball game and since that time had avoided each other. When they met at the game yesterday the quarrel was said to have been renewed.

The fight in the hotel was not preceded by any argument, witnesses said, blows being struck before bystanders had a chance to interfere. Simmons was taken to the county jail at Nevada, Mo.

31 Summer Cottages Burned, MACATAWA PARK, Mich., July 17.—Loss of more than $200,000, it was estimated today, resulted from the fire which destroyed 31 summer cottages here yesterday. Scores of vacationists had to seek shelter with neighboring cottagers. The explosion of an oil stove in one of the cottages started the fire.

Two Men Shot to Death in Auto, DETROIT, Mich., July 17.—Three men today shot and killed Robert D. Cochran of Detroit and Neale Doherty of Plymouth, Mich. The men slain were driving on Edmonson boulevard, Lincoln Park, when the three slayers leaped to the running board of the car and opened fire. Police are inclined to link the shooting with a liquor raid conducted by the State police in Lincoln Park.

Resinol healed that skin trouble

"You know how I suffered from that eczema for years, and dreaded meeting people, and how I tried dozens of remedies without avail. Resinol Soap and Ointment cleared away every trace of it. The itching was stopped instantly, and the inflammation and eruption disappeared in a surprisingly short time. It's a perfectly harmless treatment, and ideal for the complexion and hair. Yes, you can get it from any druggist."

lamp shone from within. Then what you had was different, somehow, greater. "It was just what other women have. Good and bad. The better and the worse. Marriage is like that. Neither of us was an angel. You don't live with any man eight years and never know him. His wife died, and we were married before the law, but sometimes I remembered what I'd done, and something in me shrank away from myself; sometimes he was kind, and sometimes he was not. We said things we wanted things. But we had each other. Yes, it was worth it."

Before they had gone far, the homeward way the man of them. "I wanted to ask you something," he said. "The sex, something I've brought for you. You must take care of it. You'll need your strength." "She ain't at anything," the man said. "She's awful sick."

They were passing the house next door, where the surly girl and the cruel had lived. "One thing you escaped," Anita said. "You must be thankful that you had no children." Miriam stood still, looked at her. "I would give all the rest of my life," she said. "If I might have put a child of mine into the arms of the man I loved. I would go into any bondage if I might only serve a living child of my own, and it would be freedom, blessed freedom!"

Anita shuddered. "Ah—you're not like any other woman! No one else would say that, honestly! Children are care and anxiety and mostly sorrow—do you think anybody deliberately chooses that, today?"

"I know they do! It's a small price to pay for the joy of it, child." "Never! It's not worth it! I don't believe anyone honestly thinks it is!"

Miriam walked on. "Come with me tomorrow," she said. "I think perhaps you'll understand better, then."

So, in the morning, they walked the road together again; this time Miriam had a great sheaf of blossoms in her arms. They came to a quiet place on a hill, and there they met the man of the night before. There was a small box at his feet, carefully wrapped, and in his hand a spade. He began to dig, and as the yellow earth became a mound Anita drew back, shuddering.

"One was a boy and one was a girl," the man said. "Twins. The others are all girls."

"Yes," said Miriam, softly. "Two to love. Two to remember."

"We'll do that," said the man. "Both of us will do that."

Anita's hand went to her throat. They waited until the mound was higher, until the man stood waist-deep in the earth.

"I guess it's enough," he said, looking up at Miriam. "They're so little."

She gave him the boughs of bloom. "Make them a soft bed," she told him. "He took them blossoms that would never be fruit—and lined the grave with them. Anita watched his mired fingers touching their pink-and-whiteness, caressing them, laying them so that no stems protruded. Then he clambered out, and knelt beside the box on the ground.

"Would you want to see it?" he asked.

"Oh, yes!" Miriam murmured, stooping; Anita had all she could do to draw back. But she could not take her eyes from those soil-grimed hands with their nails broken by toil, as they unstopped the paper. The hands were shaking; the man did not look up.

"It's velvet. See—white velvet."

Miriam knelt and touched the soft fabric. "Oh, lovely, lovely," she said. "Twins," the man said, his voice husky. "They're layin' in there with their arms around each other. They look like little dolls."

"It isn't everybody has twins," Miriam said. "You've had them."

"That's what my wife said. Ben," she said. "He laid the little box down upon the soft bed of flowers."

Anita, feeling as though the wings of her spirit were beating against her heart, stumbled away into the woods. Why Men Leave Home

SPENT OUT OF IT

The Husband Who Is Spent Out of His Home, Says That a Spendthrift Wife Deserves to Be Crowned as the "Queen of Gold Diggers!"

"EVERY public school ought to have a course for every girl on 'How to Spend Money Without Ruining a Husband!'" This is the advice of a man who was spent out of his home by his wife, of whom the husband said: "She hadn't the remotest idea of the value of a dollar."

"Some women regard a husband as a bank," he concluded in disgust. And now he is in the Domestic Relations Court trying to fix it some way so that there can be a limit to his wife's spending. "For she not only spent all my money, but me in the bargain!"

And there must be considerable truth in what this man says, for the majority of cases that come into this court are due to money troubles or argument on the "filthy lucre."

I honestly believe that if the truth were known a very large proportion of the marriage failures might well be traced to this quarreling with one's pocketbook.

The story of this particular man is not unlike many others. The girl was married young, shortly after leaving school, and had little or no experience in the process of saving. Marriage to her meant freedom—freedom from the narrow confines of her family—freedom to get things of which her mother did not approve.

Her hope was that if she got into her own home she could do as she pleased—and she did. The bawbles she had long craved were the first things she bought with her husband's money. And, of course, being in love with her he naturally wanted to indulge her in every whim, especially at the beginning of things.

This young woman really had the wrong view of marriage. Of course she would have been astonished if you had told her that she did not really love her husband. She did love him, but she loved herself more. The idea of a joint partnership was altogether lost on her. The big thing in her life was to get things—get things she wanted. And again, she would have been surprised had you told her that she was not getting them for her husband but for herself. In truth, anything rarely came into the house for the sole use of him who provided it all, and times without number he went without things life—to be together. I'm willing to pay."

His grasp on her arms hurt her, but the hurt made her glad. "Nita! What are you talking about? Pay? Pay—yes! I've found out, Michael—I've thought, oh, thought! I was wrong—I wanted happiness, and I wasn't willing to pay for it. I thought you could have, without paying. I know better now. You have to pay for everything—life makes you do that, whether you want to or not. But it's worth it, Michael. It's worth it!"

His face close to hers, his eyes smoldering, with a gleam of fire in them deep. "Worth it?"

"Ah—yes! You and me together! That's the great thing. Nothing else counts. Life—I want all of it; good days and bad; all our joy and even sorrow. And children—I want children; and work, and—and waiting and hoping and—and want you. You, Michael! I'm willing to pay whatever I must."

Now it was his arms that hurt, and his heart on hers that made the singing. "Oh, my darling! Life isn't so long enough to pay for all that! I need you so."

"Oh, spring and blossoming summer, and the fall of leaves. Oh, life and its song and its battles! Oh, the dear weight of his head on her breast, her hand on his hair! Oh, promise—fulfillment!"

"Yes, dear—yes! I'm here with you."

Keeping Pace.

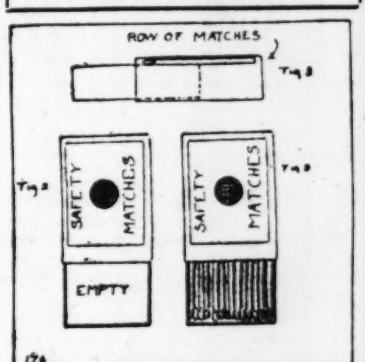

WILL WATSON runs a village store as did his pa before him; the loafers camp around his door, but never vex or bore him. They talk of church and politics, they chat of war and weather; in groups they stand and whistle sticks for many hours together. Will's tongue wags swift of the bunch, his speech is never-ending; he always has an inside hunch on each event that's pending. "I know those Roussian feller's ways," he tells his eager hearers, "they had to come to grievous days, for they were holy terrors. Old Asia's cutting up high jinks since China's kicked the traces; I'd like to see those slant-eyed Chinks go through their fighting paces." Will gives his days to themes like these; they fill each waking hour. He can't get down to slicing cheese and selling sacks of flour. And so, when folks want bread and meat and artichokes and parley, they choose Smith's store, across the street, where words are used but sparsely. Smith's store is shining, spic and span, each thing is in its section, and every shelf and case and can is ready for inspection. Will Watson runs his business place as did his pa before him; he has no thought of keeping pace, and soon his debts will floor him. For, though his neighbors and his kith select his store for resting, they go across to Mr. Smith when they intend investing. Old Earth keeps whirling on through space, it never once stops spinning, and every chap must keep the pace if he would have his inn-

Peter Is Given a Home
By Thornton W. Burgess

In story for almost always find The way to ease a troubled mind.

—Peter Rabbit.

PETER RABBIT spent a day and a night in a prisoner in a barrel in Farmer Brown's barn. Some sweet clover was dropped into it for him to eat, but Peter didn't touch it. For once in his life Peter had no appetite. He was worried, too worried to eat. A day and a night is a long time for such an active little fellow as Peter Rabbit to be shut up in a place where he could do little more than turn around. He was beginning to wonder if he was to be kept there always.

When the horses stamped he still jumped a little, but he had ceased to be badly frightened. When Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy came to look in at him his heart beat very fast. But he found that they did not hurt him, and so after a while he stopped being frightened. He tried to gnaw his way out, but the sides of that barrel were not easy to gnaw, and at last he gave that up. He thought of the dear Old Briar-patch and little Mrs. Peter and wondered if she was worrying about him. What wouldn't he have given to have been back in that dear Old Briar-patch!

It was the middle of the morning after the day that Peter was put into that barrel that Farmer Brown's Boy reached in and took him out. Peter kicked and struggled for a moment, but finding it was no use, he became quiet. He was carried outside and over to the henyard. Just inside the henyard was a new wire pen. Through a little door in the top Peter was dropped.

"Now, Peter Rabbit," said Farmer Brown's Boy kindly, "we'll keep you out of mischief for a while. Here is

MAKING IT HARDER THAN EVER.

T HERE was a complaint in a small village a few miles from Edinburgh regarding the trolley fare. For four rides into the city the company charged a shilling. This, in the opinion of many of the villagers, was too much.

A delegation was chosen to visit the offices of the line and make representations in favor of a lower rate. The arguments advanced by the plenipotentiaries prevailed. The company decided that thereafter six tickets might be had for the former price.

The townspeople returned home rejoicing, but there was at least one of their fellow citizens who did not share in the view that a wise step had been taken. This was an elderly gentleman renowned for his frugality, even in a community where frugal folk are common.

"It's all dam foolishness," he declared. "Now, we've got to walk to town six times instead of four-r times to save a shillin'!"
